INCOME TAX LAW FOR THE PEOPLE

Furnished by the Richmond Daily Register to its patrons and information obtained from R. C. Oldham.)

Note—This information is not to teach an individual how to make out a return to the government, but to give him such helpful and necessary information as will assist him in making ready to have his return prepared.

Q. Suppose he had bought the land in 1910 for the same price and sold one of the lots in 1912 for $300, one in 1913 for $320, one in July 1913 for $320, and one in March 1914 for $340, would that make a difference?

A. Where property was purchased prior to March 1913 the determination of profit is based on the market value on that date. As there was no change in the market value of these lots between February and July 1918 it may be presumed that the fair market value on March 1, 1918 was the same amount. In computing profit based on the amount of $250, original cost of lot, should be increased to $320, for the fair market value of each lot May 1, 1913.

Q. A man in 1910 took out a straight life insurance policy for $10,000; premium $300 a year. He died in 1920 having paid in $2,700 and having received dividends on the policy up to that time of $150, the dividend in 1920 being $25. His wife is the beneficiary. What amount of taxable income should he report?

A. No income to the man's wife.

Lower Farm Implement Prices

The break has come. For some time prices paid for your farm products have been low. It is but natural for you to want lower prices on the farm implements used in producing your crops

Announcement is made by the Oliver Chilled Plow Works of a general price reduction in their lines that brings prices to the basis of 1918. They are the first to make this reduction and are taking the loss that the move brings—for there has been little reduction in labor or material—as their contribution in hastening a return to normal conditions.

This is your opportunity to secure new, up-to-date Oliver quality implements that will help you produce a full crop, and get them at a price in line with the reduced prices on your farm products.

Helpful Suggestions

Springfield, Ill.—"I had periodic trouble with weakness, cramps and backache and I could not work. A neighbor recommended your medicine and I took four bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now strong and well, able to work, and recommend your medicine to my friends."—ANNA RIMKUS, R. R. No. 8, Springfield, Ill.

Why will girls continue to suffer month in and month out as Miss Rimkus did when case after case is related where Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has removed the cause of the trouble and brought good health. For more than forty years this old fashioned root and herb medicine has been the standard remedy for such ailments, and has the record of having restored more suffering women to health than any other medicine.

If there is any complication about your condition you do not understand write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts, in regard to your health.

We are willing to be judged entirely by the service we give, by our ability to help you, and to keep you free from battery troubles.

We are not geniuses. But we do our work hard, and we know our business.

You will not find any mystery here when it comes to taking care of your battery. We have studied batteries, all kinds, and know how to prevent trouble and how to get for you the longest and most satisfactory service out of your present battery, no matter what its make.

Of course our experience has shown us that some batteries, like some hearts, are stronger than others. They are capable of greater, more severe strain. Such a one is the Exide Battery, which we recommend when replacement is necessary.

For this battery, in addition to its quality, further protects you by its manufacturer's guarantee.

FORD PRICES HAVE REACHED BOTTOM

Says Edsel Ford, President of the Great Ford Motor Co.—Car Prices May Advance Soon

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statement:

"The price of the Fordson Tractor has been reduced from $790 to $625, effective immediately."

"This price change has been made possible through lower cost of materials and the fact that we are now located in our new tractor plant with greatly increased economic manufacturing facilities in immediate connection with our foundry and machine shops and large blast furnaces where iron is poured directly from the ore giving us maximum efficiency with the power to reduce cost of production, and down comes the price in line with our policy to market our products at the lowest possible figure without in any way affecting our high standard of quality."

"We are particularly pleased to be able to bring about this big reduction in price at this time because the farmer needs all the help we can give him and this big cut in price will be the means of placing a valuable power unit in the reach of practically every one of them, not to mention industrial and commercial concerns which likewise have benefited through its use and are already realizing to a much greater extent, its value as a power and hauling unit. But particularly has the Fordson Tractor proved a most valuable factor in the saving of farm labor, at the same time increasing the per acre crop yield as well as making possible a utilization of previously uncultivated land, to say nothing of removing no end of drudgery."

"There is no question that the use of machine power on the farm is the greatest advancement in the development of agriculture, not only in money saving and money-making results, as well as raising the standards of living on the farm to a much higher level, but because of its proved value in making every type of soil productive, and consequently our desire to place the Fordson within the reach of all."

"There is no change in the present Ford car and truck prices, which are already at the lowest possible figure and now with rock bottom reached on the tractor price a further reduction in price of either the car, truck or tractor is out of the question; in fact the price cuts have been made in anticipation of continuous maximum production and increase may be necessary before long if a large volume of new business is not obtained. Therefore, present prices of Ford products cannot be guaranteed against possible increase."

GOOD HEALTH HINTS FIND CURIOUS RACE IN MEXICO

Oklahoma Farmer Gives Sound Advice on Avoiding Sickness.—Used Black-Draught 30 Years.

Cameron, Okla.—"I have used Thedford's Black-Draught for about thirty years, and certainly ought to know by this time what good medicine it is," says Mr. T. L. Bostier, a well-known farmer of this place. Mr. Bostier has passed his three-score-and-tenth year, but declares his health still is good, "and I can say Black-Draught did its part."

"Where there is a lot of malaria, a liver medicine is a necessity, and I have never found one better than Black-Draught," continues the Oklahoman. "It is one that I know to be reliable. I sure use it for the liver, stomach, constipation, indigestion, and it has done me a world of good. We use it for the family, and it gives satisfaction."

"Most trouble, or sickness, comes from the liver, and if taken in time can be avoided. That is why use Black-Draught as I do. I am much pleased with results obtained."

Thedford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable. It acts on the bowels, gently stimulating the liver, and helps increase the normal flow of bile into the intestines. It assists in the digestion of food, and relieves constipation in a prompt and natural way.

Tribe Numbering 20,000 Is Said to Be Descended From the Germans.

OPPOSITE TRUE, SAY NATIVES

They Tell Berlin Ethnologist That the Germans Are Descended From Them—Worship Old Gods and Offer Up Sacrifices.

Monterey, Mex.—It is a fact not generally known even to many ethnologists that there is a tribe or nation of about 20,000 people in Mexico who are said to be descendants of the Germans. According to the legends of these aborigines, however, the Germans are descendants of the Mises, which is the name of the tribe. They inhabit several districts of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. An investigation of the Mises was made some years ago by Dr. William Bauer, a noted ethnologist of Berlin. He lived for several years among the different Indian tribes of Mexico and studied their history, habits and customs.

"The Mises are rather low in stature, and besides this they are somewhat deformed," said Doctor Bauer on the occasion of his recent visit to Monterey. "The hips are broad, the faces flat and their movements are very awkward. Their hair is black, falling over their shoulders. The men wear their hair as did the Spanish priests, with shaven crown and as long as possible on the sides. They are conservative in their customs, manners of living, and above all, their language. This is still extraordinarily pure, although very hard to learn and disagreeable to hear."

"Some of these people are fair-haired and have a light skin. For this reason they were said to be the descendants of the Germans. In nearly every Mexican history is found this tale, but when I asked them of their origin, they said that they were aborigines of this country. Several of the more intelligent said that, on the contrary, the Germans were descendants of the Mises."

Worship Their Old Gods.

"Like all other tribes they are very superstitious. They still worship their old gods and offer them up to this day sacrifices in the fields, on the hills and on the rivers. I visited several places where I found the remains of sacrifices, such as fowls, small dogs, bread, chocolate, eggs and fruit. Certain villages have their idols hidden in places known only to the oldest men of the tribe."

"But the most interesting of the tribes in Mexico are the Zapotecas, who are at present situated in nearly the whole south of the country and especially in the State of Oaxaca. They number about 300,000 people. These people are strong, of large proportions physically, are very handsome, generally good laborers, and intelligent. They live in small straw huts, each having one room."

"If any nation of Indians in Mexico it will be the nation of Zapotecas. Benito Juarez, the famous Mexican reformer, was a Zapotecan and was born in Zuelotao, near Tatlan, in the mountains of Oaxaca."

"The question of the Mazatecas tribe is one of the most interesting and difficult problems. I find that, for instance, when questioned, they say that in olden times they came from the North, but they were unable to tell from what part of the great North they first marched. They have legends which are to the effect that they passed over the Colorado river and when they came to Mexico City they settled first in the state of Vera Cruz, where they had repeated battles with the Aztecs, the founders of Mexico City. In these battles the Mazatecas were driven over toward the eastern coast in the state of Vera Cruz. This country has been held by the once powerful nation until this day."

They Are Wary of Strangers.

"It is difficult for a stranger to travel through their country owing to their extremely superstitious and suspicious ideas. They worship idols, but these they keep buried, and new ones are made each year. This nation in particular has one old custom in connection with their idols. The shell of an egg is taken and, being broken into seven pieces, it is wrapped in seven pieces of cotton cloth. Along with this are seven pieces of bark, red and blue feathers, and seven grains of corn. These charms, bound together, are placed one at each corner of every person's tract of land. This will assure a bountiful harvest and will also secure the Indians from injury from personal enemies."

"There are seven gods worshipped, and the eagle, tiger, crocodile, parrot, and serpent are among them. The five animals are worshipped, and the images made are buried, as the people of the tribe are ashamed to have strangers know of this form of worship. I was shown a number of the altars upon which sacrifices to the seven gods were offered. Every village has in addition one as a special god. It is said in Chichotia that in the church there is a trained serpent and this is the chief god of the village. The people who constitute the nation have a reverence for the serpent, which is not shown toward any of the other gods."

THE MODEL GUEST

"MY COUSIN James is coming to spend a week," announced the landlady, "and I can't say I'm overjoyed. He's the most unsatisfactory visitor I ever saw. You can hardly get a word out of him. He isn't a bit like his brother Jeremiah, who is full of fun, and the best company imaginable."

"Your remarks show how little true greatness is appreciated in a moral family boarding house where the damages are collected in advance," observed the star boarder. "In my opinion, James is the model visitor. If I had my own household, with a charming bride to pour the imitation coffee, and a vine and figtree in a jardiniere, I'd send a special delivery letter to James, asking him to come and stay for ten years or more."

"There's something restful and soothng about that gifted man. He never bothers anybody. No one has to waste precious moments entertaining him. It isn't necessary to discuss the weather predictions, or dig up a lot of statistics about the crops, in order to make James have a good time. You don't have to show him the old plush photograph album, and describe the ancestry of the melancholy effigies whose pictures appear therein. Nearly all visitors are bores, my dear Mrs. Jiggers, because they have to be entertained. Somebody has to sit up with them and thrash out last year's gossip. They have no initiative or referendum. They have no resources of their own. In order to have a pleasant visit, they need help."

"James is a man after my own heart. I remember his last visit quite well. He came in the evening, and after supper he took a chair on the porch. Knowing he was a guest, I felt it my duty to entertain him in the conventional way. I dragged my chair close up to his and remarked that it was a pleasant evening, but the presence of a cloud bank in the northwest almost convinced me that there would be rain within twelve hours, in which case, I proceeded, there would be much jubilation among the honest old farmers, whose crops were suffering for moisture."

"James listened to my remarks and then looked at me, in a sad, reproachful way, as though he thought it a shameful thing that imbeciles should be at large, and then he took his chair to the opposite end of the porch without having said a word. I must confess that I felt like a counterfeit kopeck for a few minutes, but the more I considered the matter, the more I admired and respected that remarkable man."

"He used to go downtown every morning and buy a paper backed novel, or a fiction magazine, and then he'd read it all day, and when he was done with his literature he left it where the boarders could get it. I didn't hear him say ten words during his visit, yet you say, Mrs. Jiggers, that he is an unsatisfactory guest."

Elderly landladies, whose intellects have been warped by long years of parsimony, are hard to please.

"Jeremiah, whom you describe as jolly and agreeable, should be suppressed. He has collected all the old cheesy stories ever manufactured, and insists upon telling them. He has a horrible habit of making puns, and considers himself a humorist, because of it. You couldn't bribe him to sit down with a book or magazine and behave himself. He has to be entertained every minute of his time, and the only way you can entertain him is by letting him do the entertaining."

"He is a genial old freak who thinks he is a privileged character, and everybody's pet. The last time he was here he went into my sumptuous apartment and used my razor to shave the southeast quarter section of his countenance. His whiskers are full of barbed wire, and the razor was ruined. When I spoke to him about it he thought it funny. Yet you refer to such a man as an agreeable visitor. I blush for you, Mrs. Jiggers."

In Moderation.

"Would you advise a candidate to stay on his front porch?"

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum; "but only part of the time; just long enough to take care of his voice and get together a good bunch of speeches for delivery on tour."

Just It.

"I thought you said you had a fine ending to your automobile trip." "So I had." "Your chauffeur told me you were arrested for speeding." "Well, wouldn't you call a windup in the police court a fine ending?"
